

Alone

Your eyes so blue, like the sky above,
Your smile so perfect, it's the one I love
I remember the way you used to hug...
When you held me and sang a song,
The world became good, never wrong,
I cry myself to sleep thinking about you,

alone....

Your hair it showered your back and arms,
Your hands they held me, from all life's harm
With your sweet soft voice and your perfect charm alone...alone....alone
God grant me serenity,
Asked me to accept that he took you from me,
Told me to kneel down and pray not to be...

alone

I lay in the spot where you once lay,
I sit on the rug where you and I had played,
Haunted by the voice that I obeyed
Where did you go
Thinking of the day that I saw you cry,
Ran into your arms, said "Mommy why?"
Wiped those tears pouring from your eyes,

alone

You kept me safe from all of the danger,
Gave me life with life as your wager,
To me you will never...never be a stranger..

alone

Are you happy up where you are,
You stay so close, yet you are so far
I see your face in the clouds and stars

alone

where did you go...
I am alone
...please come home.

© 2007 Amber Simpson